

UMass Lowell
Survey of Minnesota Democratic Primary Likely Voters

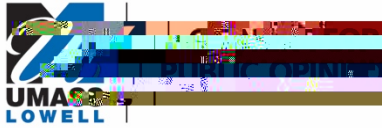

February 12-19, 2020

N=450 Minnesota Democratic Primary Likely Voters

This sample has an adjusted margin of error of $\pm 6.4\%$ for LVs

See <http://uml.edu/polls> for full questionnaire/topline results and detailed methodology disclosure.

Survey design and analysis by Joshua get delegates. As of now, she leads, but Sanders, who has moved into the national frontrunner status, continues to show strength and its likely will pick up delegates in every state. If the results of this poll were to hold, only Klobuchar, Sanders and Warren would meet the 15% threshold necessary to qualify for delegates.

The biggest dynamic in the race can be seen by age. Klobuchar leads among those 45 and older with 30% of the vote but is taking only 17% of the 45+ year old vote. Predictably, youth vote continues to propel Sanders. He is supported by 32 voters under the age of 45 compared to only 7% of voters 45 and over. Warren also does considerably better among younger voters, getting 25% of those under 45, but only 13% of those 45+.

these numbers, former President Barack Obama has a net favorability rating (90% favorable, 7% unfavorable) and President Trump has a net favorability rating (4% favorable, 93% unfavorable).