

Multi-Level Framework for Integrated Health/Safety/Wellness Interventions

Integrated interventions

address multiple levels of includes organizational policies and practices, the physical and psychological work environment, social norms, and individual actions, all acting together to influence health and work outcomes.

Interventions that target multiple levels of the work system produce better outcomes than single-level interventions.

Use this guide as a checklist for evaluating intervention integration in regards to the levels of the work system that are addressed by the intervention activities.
